

ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY Handout

You are to begin researching your question using the Internet. Create an Annotated Bibliography for the information you learn. An Annotated Bibliography is a document that lists full citations for each source of information you find, as well as a short summary of the information.

1. Your Annotated Bibliography should contain the following information for each source:

- An MLA or APA full citation
- A short summary of the information you can use from this source in your own words
- A short analysis of the ideology and credibility of the source
- A definition of what kind of source it was (blog, webpage, article, database, etc.)

2. Your Annotated Bibliography should have a minimum of 10 sources.

3. It must be in alphabetical order.

Sample APA Annotation

Ehrenreich, B. (2001). Nickel and dimed: On (not) getting by in America. New York: Henry Holt and Company.

In this book of nonfiction based on the journalist's experiential research, Ehrenreich attempts to ascertain whether it is currently possible for an individual to live on a minimum-wage in America. Taking jobs as a waitress, a maid in a cleaning service, and a Walmart sales employee, the author summarizes and reflects on her work, her relationships with fellow workers, and her financial struggles in each situation.

An experienced journalist, Ehrenreich is aware of the limitations of her experiment and the ethical implications of her experiential research tactics and reflects on these issues in the text. The author is forthcoming about her methods and supplements her experiences with scholarly research on her places of employment, the economy, and the rising cost of living in America. Ehrenreich's project is timely, descriptive, and well-researched.

ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY Handout

The annotation above both summarizes and assesses the book in the citation. The first paragraph provides a brief summary of the author's project in the book, covering the main points of the work. The second paragraph points out the project's strengths and evaluates its methods and presentation. This particular annotation does not reflect on the source's potential importance or usefulness for this person's own research.
